INTRODUCTION

The Department of Government Services has a twofold function: to provide services to departments, agencies, boards commissions, Crown corporations and the Legislature and to interact with the private sector for contracting, leasing and maintenance.

With all departments of government operating on reduced or slightly increased budgets, Government Services in particular is finding it a great challenge to maintain or increase the level of service it provides. Each function for which the Department is responsible is being closely scrutinized for savings and progress has been made in such things as the reduction of inventories and realignment of duties to curtail the filling of personnel vacancies that become vacant.

The services the Department provides are:

- Operating as the government's "landlord", providing to its various branches their requirements for accommodation, property maintenance and security, and other supporting services.
- Developing and operating governmental data processing systems and related computer services.
- Developing a wide range of creative information products as input for departmental public and internal information programs.
- Operating the Provincial Government Bookstore and the Provincial Public Enquiry Service.
- Acquiring certain furnishings, equipment and other supplies required by departments.
- Gathering and distributing government mail.
- Delivering Inter-departmental messages, parcels and other goods.
- Disposing of surplus Crown property.
- Retaining, managing and disposing of dormant government records.
- Administering government-wide insurance programs.
- Supervising and co-ordinating government telecommunication services.

- Maintaining a stationery stockroom for all Departments of Government.

The Department is structured into five divisions: Finance and Administration, Policy and Planning, Information Services, Systems and Computer Services and Construction and Accommodation.

The activities of the Department during the year under review are set out in greater detail by divisions on subsequent pages.

FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION DIVISION

The Finance and Administration Division continued to provide internal office support to the Department during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1982.

The Division continued an ongoing review of the document flow in connection with all revenue and expenditure, so as to streamline and-or consolidate any task(s) that would help make the process more efficient.

At year's end, plans were being formulated to assess the feasibility of:

- implementation of a personnel evaluation program for all employees of the Department;

- implementation of an IBM personal computer program for the automated processing of refundable maintenance invoices;

- implementation of a computer program to prepare an inventory of all Sytems and Computer Services contracts.

POLICY AND PLANNING DIVISION

This Division continued with the initiation and supervision of studies of all aspects of the Department to assist the Minister and Deputy Minister in the delivery of cost-effective services for all departments of government.

INFORMATION SERVICES DIVISION

The workload of most sections within this division increased during 1981-82 as other departments and agencies became more familiar with the services available. These services include placement of advertising, graphic art and design, still and film photography, public enquiries service, printing for all departments of government, news release distribution, press clipping, audio services, slide show production, exhibits and displays, preparation of written copy for advertising and news releases, and the Government Bookstore.

The division is structured into sections for administrative purposes; one director is responsible for Publishing and Advertising, one for Creative Services, and another (Queen's Printer) for the Government Printing Service. The Media Services and Public Enquiries sections continue to work in close co-operation, reporting to the Executive Director. The Public Enquiries section, like the Government Bookstore, provides service directly to the general public.

The volume of news releases on government programs, policies and activities disseminated through the division to the news media remained unchanged from last year at approximately 2,000.

In the Public Enquiries section, 11,259 enquiries concerning both governmental and non-governmental subjects were handled. As in previous years, the section updated Nova Scotia data for national and international reference publications, including the World Almanac, Canada Year Book, Canadian Law List, Canadian Almanac and Directory, Corpus Administrative Index and Whitaker's Almanack of London, England. The section also took over operation of the Press Clipping Service.

The Nova Scotia Government Bookstore continued to serve citizens through its walk-in and mail order service outlet.

Printing Services (Queen's Printer) experienced an increase of over one million impressions from the previous year, with a combined total (including the two Truro satellite plants) of 38,317,479 impressions.

Photographic staff began to review the color file of the department with a view to establishing a new filing procedure. Any material eliminated from the files will be sent to the N. S. Archives. An extensive program of updating the department's photo files in scenic and industrial photography was carried out.

Art and Design handled 548 jobs. Audio Services sent out a total of 151 billboards containing over 455 actualities. In addition, production support was given for commercial recording, public service announcements and slide show soundtracks. Nine slide shows were produced, along with specialized support writing for ads and features. A total of 52 exhibits and displays assignments were handled for numerous exhibitions, department and window display usage.

SYSTEMS AND COMPUTER SERVICES DIVISION

The fiscal year ended March 31, 1982 marked the first full year of operation within the Department of Government Services for the Systems and Computer Services Division.

The role of the Systems and Computer Services Division is to provide application development and support services to government agencies and departments through its Client Services and Systems Development and Support Sections. The Division's Computer Services Section operates the provincial government's shared-use computer and micrographics centres, which provide computing and micrographics services to the majority of government departments and agencies.

During the year SCS undertook one hundred and ten development or consulting projects on behalf of government departments and agencies.

The policy implemented the previous year of utilizing the private sector for systems development work continued in 1982-83. In total, twelve contracts were awarded to private sector consulting firms to provide consulting and development services to the government on behalf of user departments. Two of these contracts were for "turnkey systems" involving both computer equipment and application software development. In addition, two contracts were awarded for the acquisition of computing equipment while four contracts were awarded for the purchase of word processing systems. Two contracts were also awarded to supplement the production services offered by the Computer Services section.

A study of security measures in place at the central computer site was conducted by the Department of the Auditor General in the latter part of the year. The resultant report made several recommendations regarding possible improvements. The Division is addressing these recommendations and making improvements where possible.

There were few significant changes to the central computer site during the past year. Routine upgrades to handle increased volumes of user-initiated work were made in the area of disk storage and printing capacity. Three IBM 1403 printers were replaced with two IBM 3211 printers, and an additional two megabytes of memory were added to one of the installed IBM 3031 computers. This change, resulting in one four megabyte and one six megabyte computer, allowed the data centre to provide reasonable on-line response time to remote users.

The Computer Services Section, which operates on a cost recovery basis, re-billed approximately $5 million during the year for services it provided to user departments.

Over the past year stand-alone computing systems were acquired and installed on behalf of several departments. A Hewlett-Packard 3000 computer was acquired for the Department of Finance to support their Accounts Payable and General Ledger System. An IBM 8140 computer was installed in the Department of Social Services, a Digital Equipment D336-C computer in the Department of Consumer Affairs and a Hewlett-Packard 3000 computer was acquired on behalf of the Department of Education for use at the Dartmouth Vocational School.

CONSTRUCTION AND ACCOMMODATION DIVISION

The Construction and Accommodation Division is responsible for the design, construction, purchase, lease, renovation, alteration and maintenance of buildings and grounds and, where appropriate, overall management of such property. Disposal of surplus Crown property, procurement of telecommunications requirements and office layout and design also are among the division's responsibilities. Depending upon requirements and other factors, the division either undertakes design projects with its own staff or engages architectural and engineering consultants while maintaining supervision over their work. Actual construction is normally carried out under contract to the private sector.

During the year the division was engaged, at various stages, in more than 40 new and major renovation projects.

Among major new structures completed were the Soldier's Memorial Hospital in Middleton, an Industrial Incubation Mall in Musquodoboit Harbour, an addition to the Agriculture Engineering Building at Nova Scotia Agriculture College in Bible Hill, the Vehicle and Cold Storage Buildings at the Forest Nursery in Strathlorne, an addition to the N. S. Research Foundation Corporation Buildings in Dartmouth, the Vehicle and Maintenance Garages for the Department of Transportation in Shelburne and a snow plow garage for the Department of Transportation in Dartmouth, a sub-division office and a new greenhouse at the Header House in Lawrencetown for the Department of Lands and Forests, and a Parks Division Office addition in Debert for the same department.

New projects undertaken or continued from the previous year include a new library for N.S.A.C. in Bible Hill, an addition and paraplegic access to the Cumberland Vocational School in Springhill, the addition of an elevator and paraplegic ramp to Forrester Hall at the N. S. Teachers College, commencement of Phase I (Residence) for the Visually Impaired in Halifax, an Ambulatory Care and Oncology Center at the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax, an addition and alterations to the Aberdeen Hospital in New Glasgow, a new extended care facility for the Harbour View Hospital in Sydney Mines, an addition to Sydney City Hospital in Sydney, commencement of a major addition to Northside Hospital in North Sydney, an addition and renovations to the hospital in Annapolis, renovations to the second floor of the Halifax Infirmary, alterations to both the Miller and Blanchard-Fraser Hospitals in Kentville, a new retail outlet for the N. S. Liquor Commission in Mahone Bay, a new depot in Middle Musquodoboit, and Parks Entry Building in Whycocomagh and Dry Chemical Storage in Strathlorne, all for the Department of Lands and Forests.

In addition, preliminary programming and planning for a Provincial Service Center in Dartmouth, planning for an addition to the Cox Institute in Truro to accommodate expanded laboratory requirements, preliminary designs for a Transportation office in Baddeck and repair facilities in New Minas as well as programming and planning for additional accommodations for Liscombe Lodge was commenced.

Among other major projects carried out by the division were renovations and alterations to the Johnson Building and the Administration Building in Halifax and the Nova Scotia Agricultural College Residence Buildings in Truro. Improvements were made to the Dory Building in Shelburne, Ross Farm Museum in New Ross, Grove Cottage, Amherst and Sherbrooke Village, for the Nova Scotia Museum. At the Nova Scotia Institute of Technology, the Food Services wing was renovated. Alterations were carried out at the Victoria General Hospital including the installation of new X-ray equipment and a full body scanner. Renovation work was carried out at the Digby Pines, Keltic Lodge and Liscombe Lodge.

Fire alarm and security systems were installed in the Perkins Museum, Prescott House and Miller Hospital.

New boilers were installed at Government House and Digby Pines and heating system improvements were carried out at the Nova Scotia Institute of Technology, Nova Scotia Museum, and Sydney Provincial Building.

During the year the Archives Solar Project was completed and energy management studies were carried out for the Victoria General Hospital and Nova Scotia Museum.
